IN THE COOL OF THE DAY

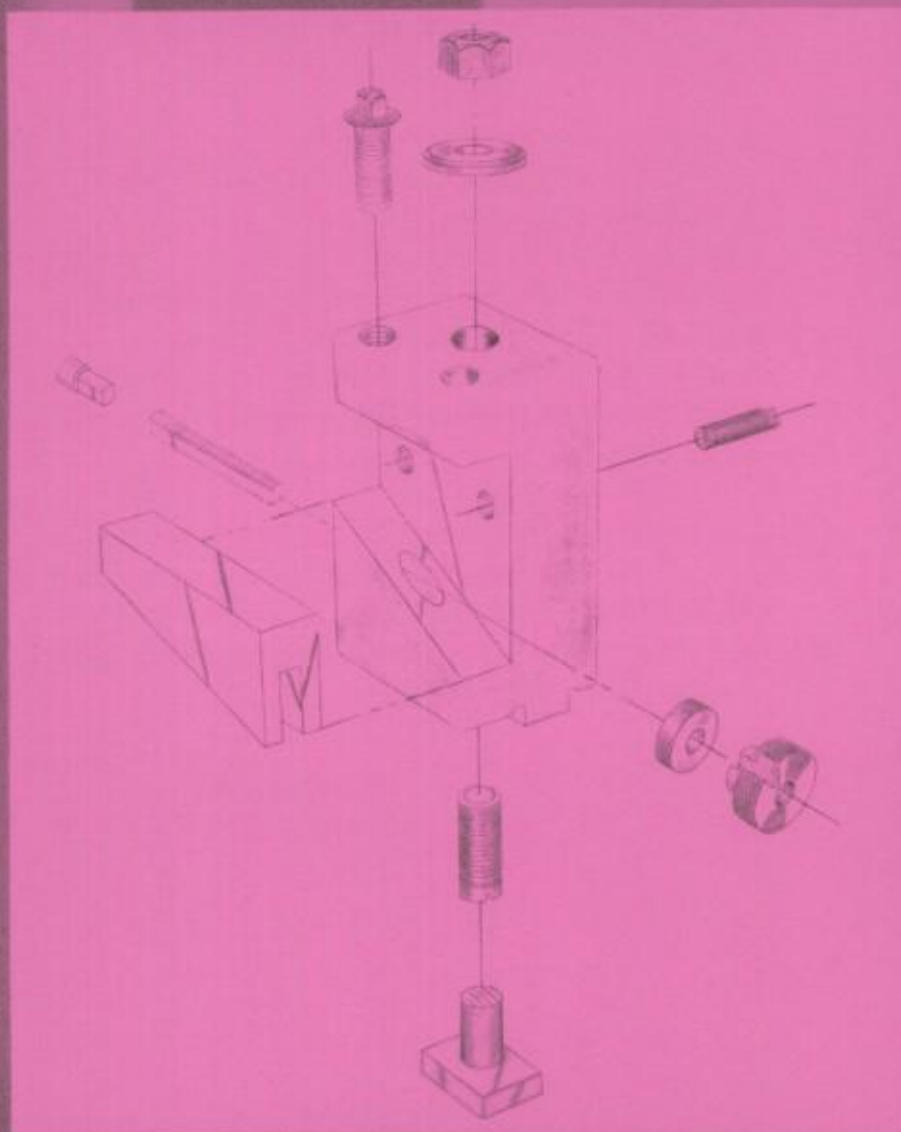

In the cool of the day,
When the gentle-fingered wind bends the Branches of the willows,
And the grasses lie close to the bottomlands,
I wander down to the brook in the meadow
And sit on its quiet bank, let my hand
Make ever-widening ripples in the cool water,
And dream of the other evenings in the meadows among the wildflowers.
The crickets sing to me,
And the wind whispers in my ear of laughing,
Sun filled childhood days in these green meadows.
When the friendly sun has sunk into the land beyond the distant hills,
I rise from my memories and wander home,
In the cool of the day.

SMILE

Grown-up's toy
So cheaply bought,
Disguising fiend
When carefully wrought
In glittering rhinestones;
Deceiving friend
With rotting wood,
Delusions mend;
Falling rain
But no drops felt—
Everyone has umbrellas.

MUTE

O, the quiet serenity
 of silence
 the undisturbed simplicity
 of thought
 the smile
 the handshake
 the understanding unspoken
 and yet
 as real as you are to me
 unconsciously I call out to you
 not realizing the inadequacies of tongue
 but with a gentle touch
 you understand and a soft smile
 you talk to me
 and a knowing look that is the discovery
 of hidden laughter
 we'll never hear
 but feel;
 you are so beautiful.

THE TREE, THE COUNTRY

A tree is a good comparison to our country. The roots of a tree are its beginning. How the tree will grow to maturity is determined by how well-organized and strong the roots are. Our forefathers were the roots of this country. They had to be well-organized and strong to get this small, undeveloped nation off to a healthy start.

The trunk of a tree has to be powerful and dominate so that it can hold up its heavy branches and leaves. The trunk of our country is the people. We have to be powerful and dominate to support all of our responsibilities as citizens. It isn't easy, though, with all the race riots, campus disorders, wars and hate. However, if the people are strong enough, we can overcome these problems.

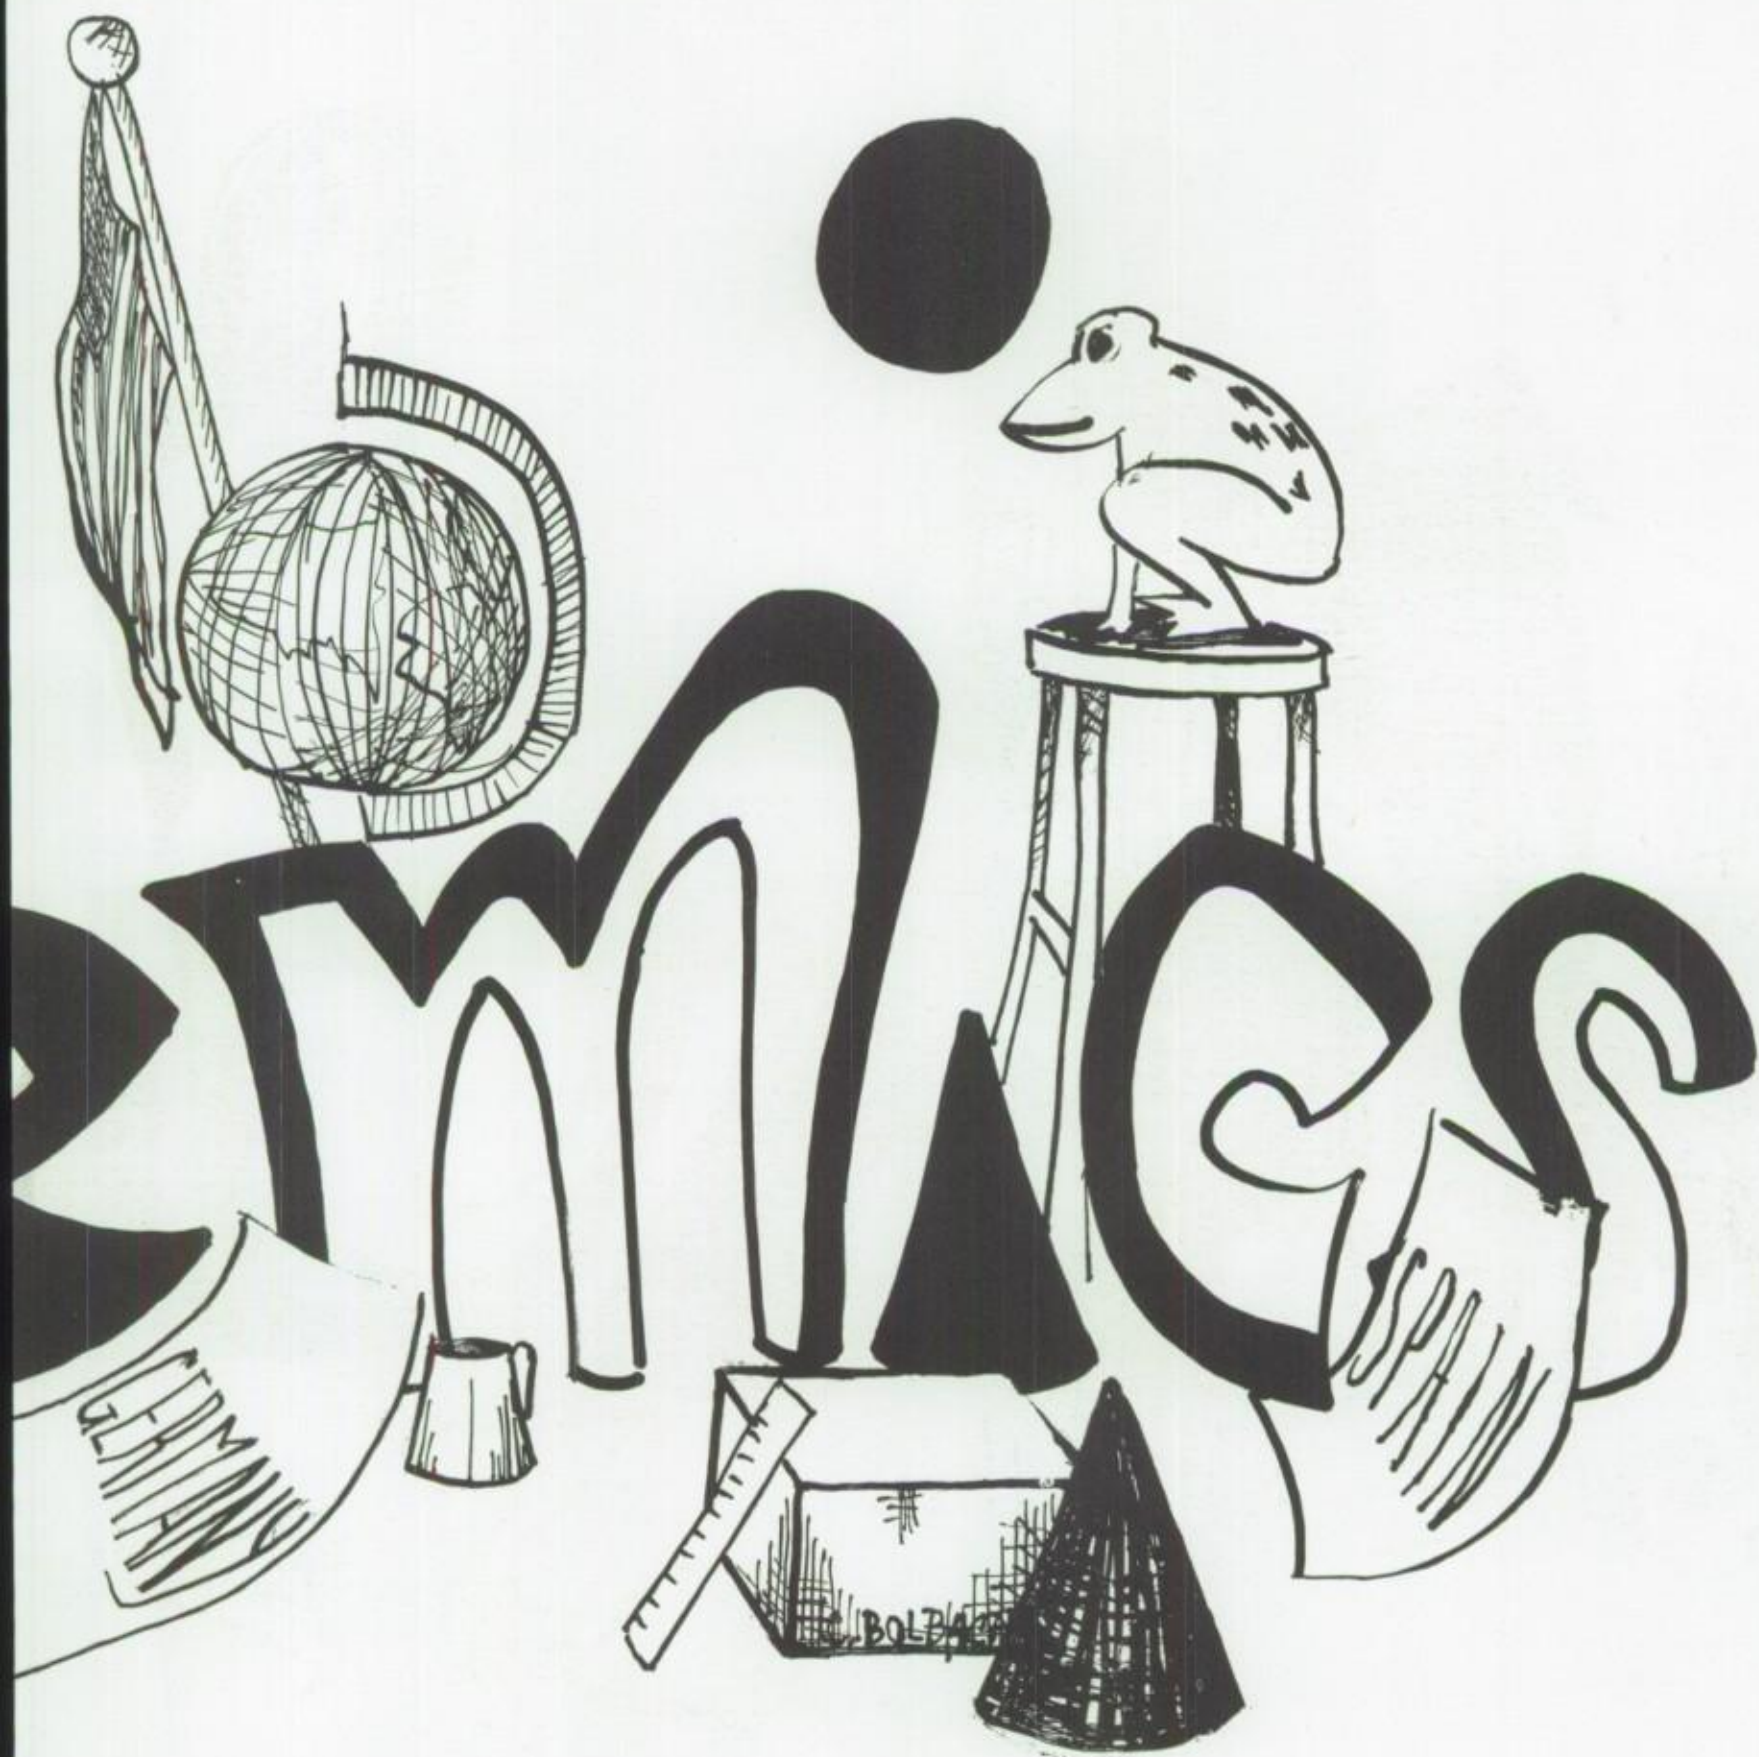

The leaves of a tree are beautiful and fruitful. Leaves go from a beautiful color of green in the summer to a more beautiful color of gold or orange in the fall. The trees are abundant with fruit in the summer. Our country is also beautiful, not just by appearance, but because we are a free nation and the people can express their thoughts without fear. We are the most fruitful country in the world. More ideas and progress comes from our country than any other country in the world.

Last are the branches of a tree. They are constantly struggling to grow higher and higher so they can soak up more of the sun's life-giving rays; and, slowly, day by day, the branches are becoming more and more powerful. Our country is reaching higher and higher every day, but not for the sun's rays to guide us. We are slowly searching for God's rays to guide us higher. Through Him we can become a better nation. . . .

Cheerleaders

The leadership and enthusiasm of the cheerleaders has been the spark of spirit at many pep rallies and athletic events. The girls spent long hours after school and during the summer as they attended the Kent State University Cheerleading Clinic. They returned home with a 3rd place and two 2nd place ribbons. The students and teams of Start owe much to the lively spirited girls who have earned the title of "cheerleader" ■

Intramurals

In any school the keen competition for success is a strong motivating force, often causing students to push hard in attempting to reach lofty goals. Intramurals provide an outlet for this need to run, to jump, and to win. During the week in the Start High gym interested girls participate in volley-ball, competing against other teams. In the spring boys match their skills as they engage in the game of soccer. Intramurals—competition with others ■

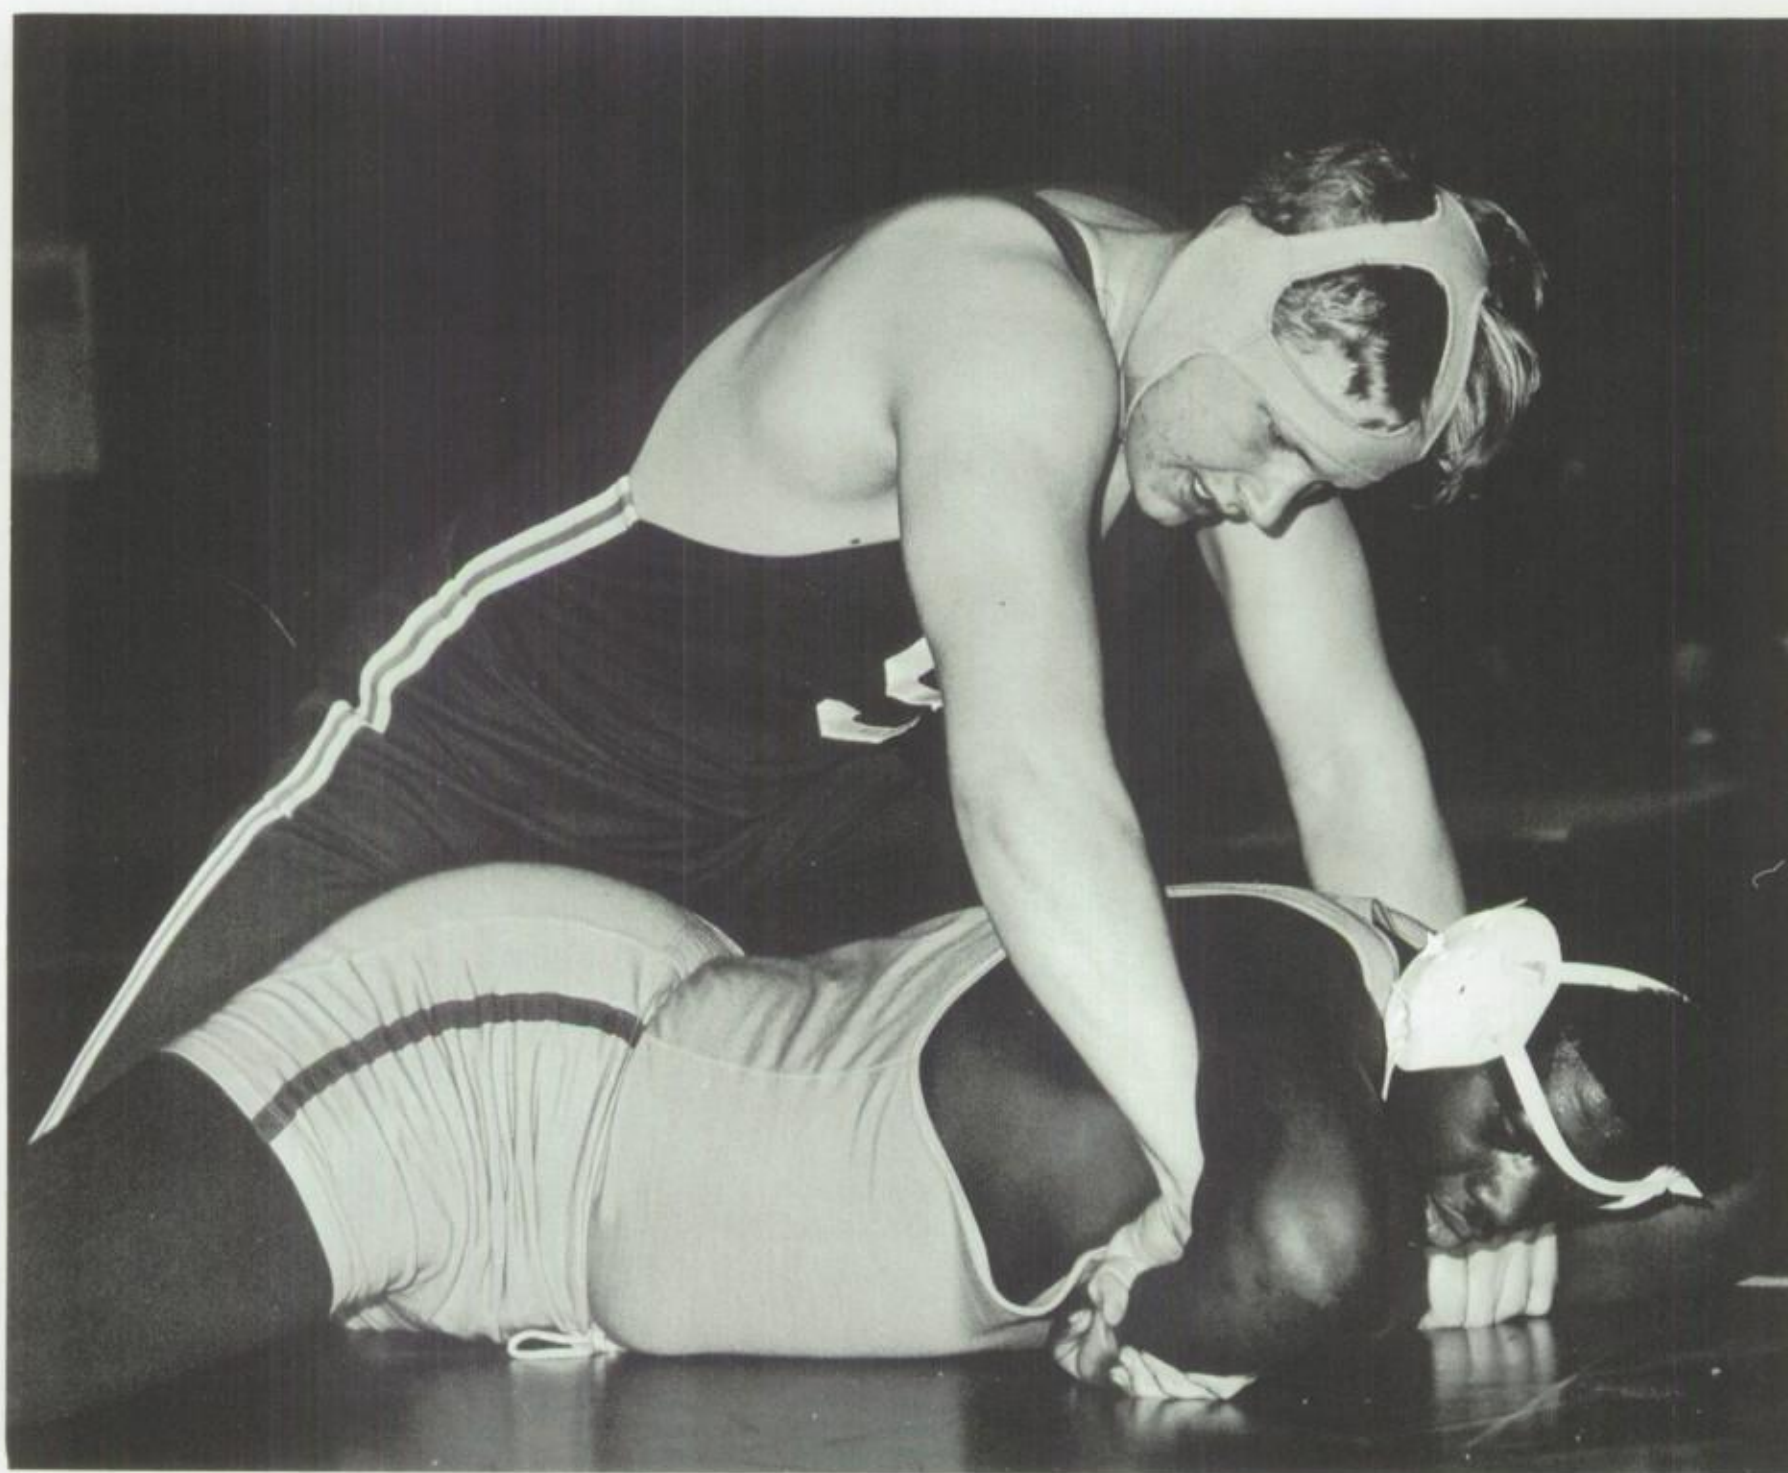

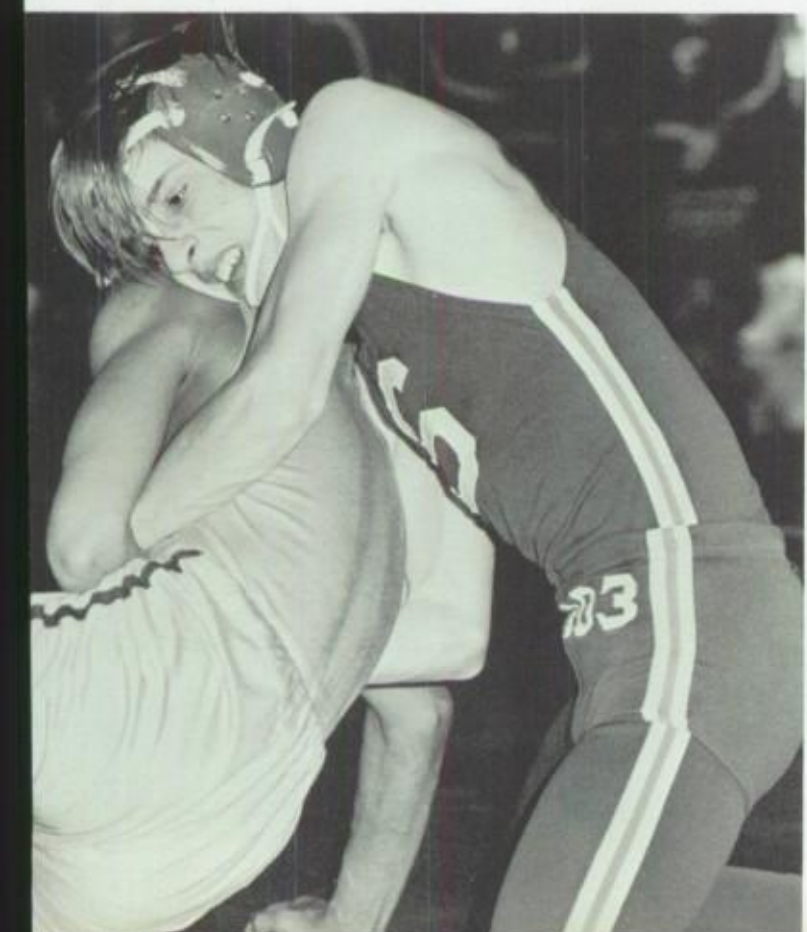

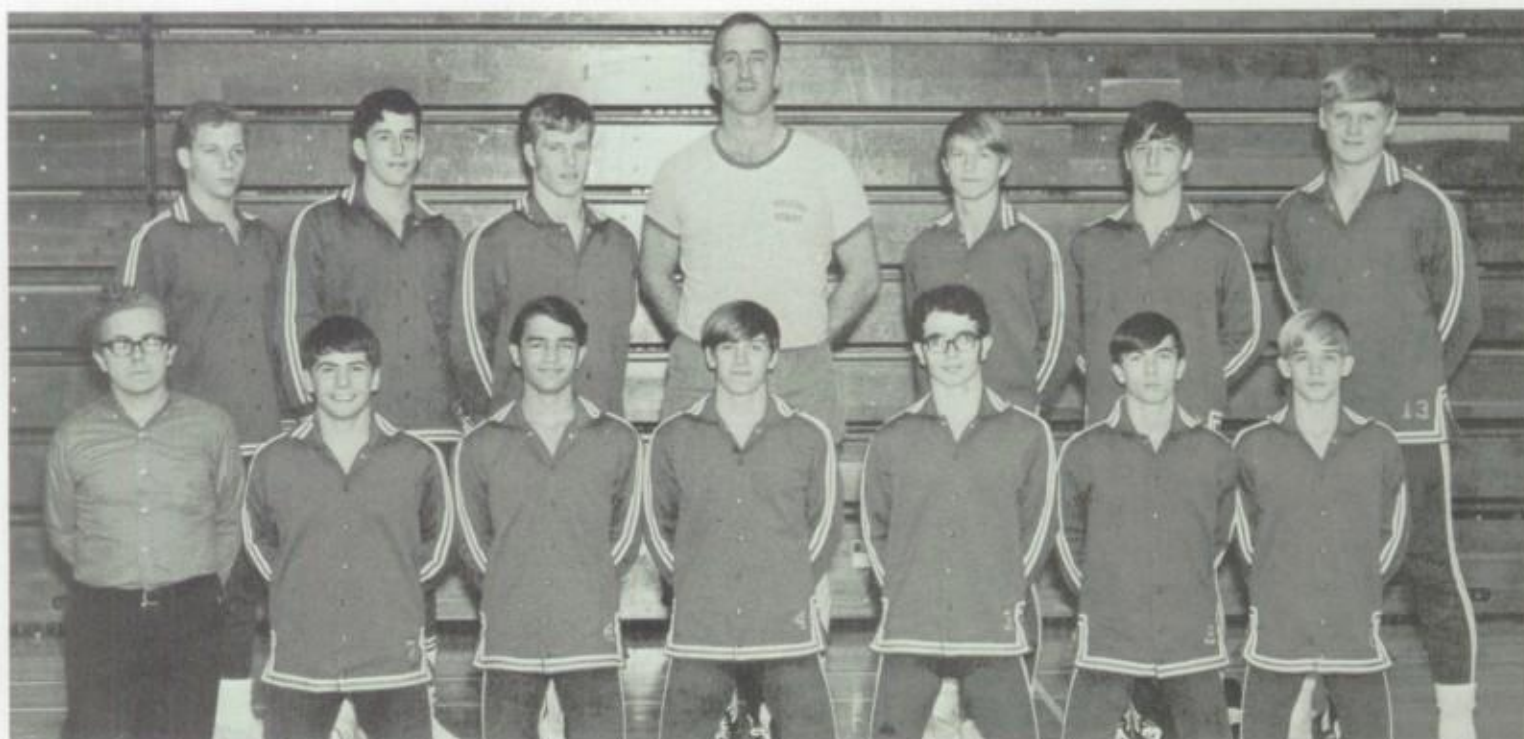

Wrestling

The Start grapplers finished the 1970 season with a 2-3-2 team record. A 38-8 victory over Libbey, gave the Spartans their biggest win of the season. Co-captain Jeff Oswald led the squad with an over-all record of 16-3-1, which earned him the M.V.P. award. Under the able coaching of Don Niederhauser, the wrestling squad finished the season by placing 2nd in the Bowling Green Invitational Tournament ■ say who? and be what?

Donata, Zets, Forum, Peris, Q.D., Amorosa—
 Now is the time to be cool.
 But which do I choose?
 Who will accept me?
 How should I act?
 Oh No!
 The time has come. . . .
 I am in. I am cool.

standstill

I am on a see-saw.
Sometimes I am up
and see forever,
a neverending joy and ecstasy.
Other times I am down
the pain and depression overwhelm me
as I sink lower and lower.
Still I move.
But now
the sides have balanced
and the ride has ceased.
I see straight ahead
no rise and no fall,
just ever continuing consistency
a resultant sense of boredom.
Finding no event in my life
to cause a change,
I wonder, when I move,
will it be up or down?

end to the void

Released after years of existing
 I am climbing the ladder of experience.
 Not only learning to think,
 but to grow.
 I am questioning and deciding and demanding recognition.
 Even when losing my footing in defeat,
 I realize each step takes me
 closer to myself
 as I grasp the rungs
 of my personal hopes and feelings.

Class of 1971

out of darkness

All the reflections of my past loom larger as they approach me.
Outlines form and fade
as feelings become a part of my world.
I understand other people
but to myself, I remain a shadow.
These emotions will help me realize who and what I am.

dedicated to a certainty,

Whether I am part of a group

I try to find the need to work

But at times
I see in myself an insincerity
and an indifference toward my obligations.

Unassuming bliss
 accompanied by rejection of responsibilities;
 just letting go
 and acting without thought to create a silly, juvenile joy—
 Laughing uncontrollably

 also an impish craving

the end and the beginning

This year is the boundary between the hope to be and the attempt to be.
Yet I am still at an early stage,
and I sit and wonder if it will ever end.

as i see it

Quiet surroundings transformed become people
belonging together.
Life comes,
and we are in a hurry.
We want to go somewhere.
Now.
We think about the future,
and remember the past—sometimes.
We think young.
We live young.
As I see it. . . .

Student Body,

Having a great time up here in the Shield room.
Sure wish you were here.
The weather is perfect. Just finished re-cropping a picture. Expecting to mail any day now.
Oh, by the way, a collection of poems should reach you any time.
H. T. asked for them.
Well that's about it. Be back soon.

Phil

P.S.
Thank you, staff.

For life and death are one, even as the river and sea are one . . .

Only when you drink from the river of Silence shall you indeed sing
And when you have reached the mountop, then you shall begin to climb.
And when the earth shall claim your limbs, than shall you truly dance.
